WASHINGTON July 19—The chief of the bureau of statistics reports the total value of the export of domestic breadstuffs from the United States during June was $15 049 859 and for June 1879 $17 2 0 710 during the twelve months ending June 30 ... 20 762 and during the same period in 1879 $211 776,499.

The Ute Settlement.

WASHINGTON July 19—The first intelligence the interior department has from the Ute commission is assurance that they reached Los Pinos and will confer to day with the Utes and the department expects complete success in executing the terms of the agreement between Ouray and Secretary Schurz last February and that by October the Utes will be settled on their new farms and their former reservations opened to settlement.

LOS PINOS July 19—At an informal meeting yesterday Ouray informed the commission that 100 lodges of White river Utes were on the way and would arrive Tuesday night. Accordingly at the request of Ouray and the Uncompaghre Utes the first grand council appointed for Monday was postponed until Wednesday. Col Moneypenny president of the commission, is quite hopeful that all matters will be amicably adjusted. McKenzie and the greater part of his cavalry command broke camp on the Uncompaghre river yesterday and left for Grand river.

The work of the commission is much greater than generally supposed and it is predicted that the Indians will not be removed to Grand river inside of a year. A majority of the Uncompaghres are favorable to the change and will sign the treaty without much delay. This is due in a great measure to Ouray who has worked hard since his return from Washington. The only opposition, if any will come from the White river Utes.

GENERAL ARTHUR'S LETTER.

An Intelligent and Patriotic View of Public Affairs

ELECTIONS, FINANCE, EDUCATION

The Conkling Theory of Civil Service

Etc., Etc., Etc.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK July 18

Dear Sir: I accept the position assigned me by the great party whose action you announce. This acceptance implies approval of the principles declared by the convention but usage permits me to add some expression of my own views.

The right and duty to secure honesty and order in popular elections is a matter so vital that it must stand in front. The authority of the national government to preserve from fraud and force elections at which its own officers are chosen is a chief point on which the two parties are plainly and intensely opposed. Acts of congress for two years have in New York and elsewhere done much to curb violence and wrong to which the ballot and count have been again and again subjected—sometimes despoiling great cities, sometimes stifling the voice of a whole state often seating not only in congress but on the bench and in legislatures numbers of members never chosen by the people. The democratic party, since gaining possession of the two houses of congress has made these laws the object of bitter ceaseless assault, and despite all resistance, has hedged them with restrictions cunningly contrived to baffle and paralyze them. This aggressive majority boldly attempted to extort from the executive his approval of various enactments destructive of these election laws by revolutionary threats that a constitutional exercise of the veto power would be punished by withholding the appropriations necessary to carry on the government and these threats were actually carried out by refusing needed appropriations and by forcing an extra session of congress lasting for months and resulting in concessions to this usurping demand which are likely in many states to subject the majority to the lawless will of a minority. Ominous signs of public disapproval alone subdued this arrogant power into a sullen surrender for the time being of part of its demands. The republican party has strongly approved the stern refusal of its representatives to suffer the overthrow of statutes believed to be salutary and just. It has always insisted and now insists that the government of the United States of America is empowered and in duty bound to effectually protect the elections denoted by the constitution as national. More than this, the republican party holds as the cardinal point in its creed that the government should by every means known to the constitution protect all American citizens everywhere in a full enjoyment of their civil and political rights. As a great part of its work of reconstruction the republican party gave the ballot to the emancipated slave as his right and defense. A large increase in the number of members of congress and of the electoral college from the former slave-holding states was the immediate result. The history of recent years abounds in evidence that in many ways and many places especially where their number has been great enough to endanger democratic control the very men by whose elevation to citizenship this increase of representation was effected, have been debarred and robbed of their voice and their vote. It is true that no state statute or constitution in so many words denies or abridges the exercise of their political rights but bodies employed to bar their way are no less effectual. It is a suggestive and startling thought that increased power derived from the enfranchisement of the race now derives its share in governing the country wielded by those who lately sought the overthrow of the government, is now the sole reliance to defeat the party which represented the sovereignty and nationality of the American people in the greatest crisis of our history. Republicans cherish none of the resentments which animated them during the actual conflict of arms. They long for a full and real reconciliation between the sections which were needlessly and lamentably at strife. They sincerely offer the hand of good will but they ask in return a pledge of good faith. They deeply feel that the party whose career is so illustrious in great and patriotic achievement will not fulfill its destiny until peace and prosperity are established in all the land until liberty of thought, conscience and action and equality of opportunity shall not be merely cold formalities of statute but living birthrights which the humble may confidently claim and the powerful dare not deny.

The resolution referring to the public service seems to me deserving of approval. Surely no man should be the incumbent of an office, the duties of which he is for any cause unfit to perform or who is lacking in ability, fidelity or integrity which a proper administration of such office demands. This sentiment would doubtless meet with general acquiescence but opinion has been widely divided upon the wisdom and practicability of various reformatory schemes which have been suggested and of certain proposed regulations governing appointments to public office. The efficiency of such regulations has been distrusted mainly because they have seemed to exalt mere educational and abstract tests above general business capacity and even special fitness for the work in hand. It seems to me that the rules which should be applied to the management of the public service may be properly conformed in the main to such as regulate the conduct of successful private business. Original appointments should be based upon ascertained fitness, the tenure of office should be stable, positions of responsibility should so far as practicable be filled by the promotion of worthy efficient officers the investigation of all complaints and punishment of all official misconduct should be prompt and thorough. These views which I have long held repeatedly declared and uniformly applied when called upon to act find embodied in a resolution which of course approve. I will add that by the acceptance of public office whether high or low, one does not in my judgment escape any of his responsibilities as a citizen, or lose or impair any of his rights as citizen and that he should enjoy absolute liberty to think and speak and act in political matters according to his own will and conscience provided only that he honorably faithfully and fully discharges all his official duties.

The resumption of specie payments, one of the fruits of republican policy has brought the return of abundant prosperity and settlement of many distracting questions. The restoration of sound money the large reduction of our public debt and its burden of interest and the high advancement of public credit all attest the ability and courage of the republican party to deal with such financial problems as may hereafter demand solution. Our paper currency is now as good as gold and silver is performing its legitimate function for the purpose of change. The principles which should govern the relations of these elements of currency are simple and clear. There must be no deteriorated coin, no depreciated paper and every dollar whether of metal or paper should stand the test of the world's fixed standard.

The value of popular education can hardly be overstated although its interests must of necessity chiefly be confined to voluntary effort and the individual action of the several states. They should be encouraged so far as the constitution permits by generous co-operation of the national government. The interests of the whole country demand that the advantages of our common school system should be brought within the reach of every citizen and that no revenues of the nation or state should be devoted to the support of sectarian schools.

Such changes should be made in the present tariff and system of taxation as will relieve any overburdened class and enable our manufacturers and artisans to compete successfully with those of other lands. The government should aid works of internal improvement national in their character and should promote the development of our water courses and harbors wherever general interests of commerce require.

Four years ago as now the nation stood at the threshold of a presidential election, and the republican party in soliciting continuance of its ascendency founded its hope of success not upon its promise but upon its history. Its subsequent course has been such as to strengthen the claims which it then made to the confidence and support of the country. On the other hand, considerations more urgent than ever before exist to forbid the accession of its opponents to power. Their success, if success attends them must chiefly come from the united support of that section which sought forcible disruption of the union and which according to all teachings of our past history will demand ascendency in the councils of the party to whose triumph it will have made by far the largest contribution. There is the gravest reason for apprehension that exorbitant claims upon the public treasury by no means limited to the hundreds of millions already covered by bills introduced in congress within the past four years would be successfully urged if the democratic party should succeed in supplementing its present control of the national legislature by electing the executive also. There is danger of intrusting the control of the whole law making power of the government to a party which has in almost every southern state repudiated obligations quite as sacred as those to which the faith of the nation now stands pledged.

I do not doubt that success awaits the republican party and that its triumph will assure a just economical and patriotic administration. I am respectfully your obedient servant

C. A. ARTHUR

To Hon Geo F Hoar president of the republican national convention.

THE PORTLAND AND DALLES RAILROAD

BY REV DR ATKINSON

THE DALLES July 18 1880

The high water is receding, but its marks remain. The plan is to raise First street several feet more and the stores fronting it. The O R & N Co are raising their track higher. It had been raised four or five feet before this high rise of the Columbia river. But what seems a hardship both to the citizens and to the railroad company will prove a benefit. Capt C Inn and others say if the weather had been hot the last three weeks and had melted the snows quickly the water would have filled The Dalles back to the bluff. Such a flood may come and the property owners must be prepared for it. A current ran through First street and over the bridge this time. It ... rise six or eight feet more and sweep through Second and Third streets and the loss of property would far exceed the cost of raising and paving all the streets and putting all the buildings and sidewalks up to the grade. Water backed through the sewers into Third street cellars.

THE RAILROAD ROUTE WEST

The new grade passes the car shops which are now well elevated but which may be lifted more. This new track extends westerly through a natural cut of small canyon which is the surveyed route to Portland. Every cut raised on First street lifts the railroad track up nearer the table rock of basalt west of the city and saves vast amounts of cutting there and farther along the line westward.

A trip out on the line to the 60th stage this morning showed a good rate on the ... with few deep cuts. Mostly the cuts will be shallow or side cuts. It is ... necessary to get on the basalt benches, cut off the knobs blast into the sidehill all above the highest water. Use can thus be made of the masses of debris which have fallen from the hills and mountains along the river and be come solid benches.

THE ROCK WORK OF THE RAILROAD

One who passes on the steamer wonders how a railroad track or bed can be found or made where the basalt cliffs rise perpendicular from the river and form the mountain back. In these places will be the heaviest cuttings and longest tunnels and the work will be slow and costly.

I am informed that all the rock work will be put under contract in a few weeks—perhaps a month—and that the work will be commenced this season and continued all winter into 1881 and until it is finished.

CONSTRUCTION CARS FOR WORKMEN

Two large cars, 60 feet in length—one for kitchen pantry and dining room with ice chest beneath (like the Pullman dining car plan) and one for sleeping car—have just been finished by Mr C A Fitts car builder for the company. These will soon be run out on the line eastward towards Walla Walla, and kept up with the track laying. They contain the dining hall and sleeping rooms of the laborers and master workmen on wheels. Meals and lodging will be always ready on time with no loss for travel.

The same cars will no doubt be used for the track layers on the line to Portland which we may hope to see in operation ere the end of 1881. This will give a through trip to Walla Walla without the delays and changes we now have.

MATERIALS FOR THE WORK INCLUDING CAR BUILDING

In a brief conversation with J F Curtis Esq master mechanic C A Phipps Esq car builder and A J McLelland Esq, master bridge and building constructor all of whom have for many years worked on eastern and western roads, and have used all kinds of eastern western and southern timbers and woods for railroad and cars they all regard the Oregon fir as the strongest and best for most of the railroad work and say that none of it should be wasted. Mr Phipps says the floor timbers of his 60 feet cars are sawed and planed in single pieces of fir a thing not possible with eastern lumber. All say that our fir, ash oak maple and cedar will make the finest cheapest and strongest coaches and sleeping cars and that there is no need of importing a single railroad car coach or sleeper for any of these new roads.

Messrs Curtis and McLelland say, that the Alaska cedar is especially adapted for fine car work. Its fine grain will polish like maple. Its rich aromatic odor which is alike delicious and healthful to occupants and destructive to vermin and its strength, make it a most useful and desirable kind of lumber.

Mr McLelland states that he went up to the Skeena river for the English government to get the Alaska cedar, and that they built a tug of 400 tons burden wholly of it, which was staunch for ocean towing of two vessels at a time and that its odor keeps off the teredo and other destructive worms, and that it makes a perfect ship without copper and lasts longer than fir or oak in sea water. He adds that wardrobes in San Francisco are made wholly of it. They are not painted or varnished or shellacked but simply polished and left in the native color and no moth or bug or other vermin will infest them.

Mr Curtis remarked that Alaska cedar piles would be cheaper and better than the coppered piles used at New Tacoma. He thinks the Cowlitz and Lewis river swamp oak and maple the strongest and best he has ever seen for car uses, and that the oak grub timber which people are wasting ought to be saved and allowed to grow for use as it excels all most every kind of wood in elasticity, toughness and strength.

IRON FOR ROADS

All these gentlemen unite in saying that the rolled and wrought iron for the railroad ought to be made of Oswego or of other like iron here and that a rolling mill would pay if put up at Oswego. They add that car wheels can be cast in the foundries at Portland as well as at Pittsburg. A car wheel weighs 525 pounds. It costs at the eastern shops $17, freight $3 = $20. It can be built here at a profit ... in fact, all work and materials ... be done here for the new railroads.

Railroad Work.

[From the Walla Walla Union 18th]

During the week Chief Engineer H Thielsen Assistant Engineer H B Thielsen, J L Hallett the boss builder and others of the O R & N Co were in town. From them we learned that the high water did very little damage to the road bed between Celilo and Wallula and that the damage done is being repaired as rapidly as the water recedes. They expect the grading, bridges trestle work and rock cuts to be completed between Walla Walla and Celilo by the 1st of August. As soon as that work is done the force of men will ... at work on the road between Tax ... Ferry and ... a distance of 32 miles and they expect to have it ready for the track in 60 days after they begin work. As soon as that work is completed the force ... will be put on the route between Walla Walla and the mouth of the Tucannon and it will be graded as rapidly as possible. One ship loaded with rail for the company was abandoned at sea. An equal amount of rails was purchased in New York once ... and they are now being brought overland to San Francisco. None of the ships with iron for the company have yet arrived in Portland though they are expected any day.

It Looks a Little Strange.

If anybody had told the boys whom he compelled to take to their ... on that occasion that they would be now ... as a patriot and a statesman and ... to vote for him ... the boys would have been very ... it.

A GOOD ACCOUNT

To sum it up for six long years of bed ridden sickness and suffering costing $200 per year total $1200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day and I want everybody to know it for their benefit.

JOHN WEEKS, Butler, N. Y.

POLITICAL MATTERS

Conkling and the Campaign.

CHICAGO July 15—A Washington special says: A gentleman is in the city who met Senator Conkling a few days ago. He says the New York senator discusses the campaign with great interest. He is not going to Europe this summer and never thought of such a thing. He will probably spend two or three weeks during the hot weather but will be found in the thickest of the fight in New York when the ball opens. He declares respecting the ... ... disaffection that it is utterly without foundation. There is no such ... as in the fact that Senator Conkling has not entered into the canvass yet by way of speaking. No one has done so except in the Ohio borders, and then in but one or two instances. Weaver is about the only exception ... active politician now as regards actual public work.

Thurlow Weed on Garfield's Letter

NEW YORK, July 15—Thurlow Weed thinks Garfield's letter proves, in the language of Daniel Webster that his nomination was one ... made. His utterances are frank and fearless. His views upon all national questions are clearly and succinctly stated. His sentiments and sympathies are in the right direction. This declaration of principles fortified as it is by a record which attests his capacity integrity and fidelity, must secure a united active and vigorous republican canvass in favor of Garfield and Arthur.

Tilden Wants a Ride.

NEW YORK July 15—The Herald says: There is an intention in certain quarters to hoist Tilden upon Hancock's back. The old gentleman himself would gladly take the ride. The Cincinnati convention passed a resolution which he construes into an invitation to mount and the democratic national committee and their visit to Gramercy Park yesterday morning exhibited an indecent willingness to help him up.

Chairman Jewell on the Outlook.

WASHINGTON, July 15—Governor Jewell, chairman of the republican national committee was in Washington to day and leaves to night again for New York. He had a long consultation with Don Cameron and Secretary McPherson of the congressional committee. He does not expect to be in Washington again this summer. He says entire harmony prevails in the republican ranks. He has seen the leaders of the party all over the country and can find no feeling among the factions of the party that were devoted to the various candidates before nomination. The republicans will beat the democrats again he claims because as usual the latter have nominated a man whose life is a contradiction of their whole history, just as was the nomination of McClellan and Greeley. He proposes to make the campaign as dignified and respectable as possible, and to discourage the mud throwing process. He regards General Hancock as a gentleman who will be defeated simply because he is the representative of a political party unworthy of public confidence, and one in whose hands the people will not care to risk the affairs of the nation. He says the national committee are already at work and will make a most vigorous canvass, but will not begin holding mass meetings as a rule until after the hot season has abated somewhat.

AMERICAN COMPETITION

A Significant Article upon the Menace to England's Greatness—Drain upon her Population, and Ruinous Competition for her Farmers.

[From the London Examiner.]

The Americans appear to have at last discovered that if they are to "whip creation" effectively they must take their stand on their agricultural rather than on their manufacturing advantages. At the next census it is calculated that they will number 50 000,000 souls the majority of whom will be breeders of cattle and growers of grain. And the ratio of increase of these formidable competitors is enormous. Four hundred thousand immigrants it is estimated, will this year be landed on the shores of the United States chiefly English Irish Germans and Scandinavians of the best class and in the prime of life. The amount of ready money which they bring with them to their adopted country is not less than £12 per head, while the value of their industry is simply inestimable. They are admittedly the best bone and sinew of the Old World. Avoiding the mistake of the earlier immigrants they no longer attempt to find a home in the eastern states, but at once take train for the far west, where at present at all events the demand for manual labor of all kinds is practically unlimited.

Much has been said about the folly of labor combinations "driving capital out of the country." But here manifestly we have the converse process at work. The proletariat of Europe is being driven by the hundred thousand and across the Atlantic to escape the dreaded conscription and the crushing burdens imposed by the bloated armaments maintained by monarchical states. The New World is redressing the balance of the Old with a vengeance. Our agriculturists have been the first to feel the strain. They are face to face with a competition of ruinous severity. The gravity of the crisis cannot be exaggerated. Better harvests will avail them but little. Meanwhile the liberal government proposes to relieve the agricultural distress by a piddling hares and rabbits bill, which certain liberal landlords chiefly oblivious apparently of the fact that it is the possibility of rent rather than the freedom of contract that is threatened, are opposing. To any one who has beheld with his own eyes what is being done in those glorious, free United States agriculturally speaking the general insanity of Englishmen to the imminent ruin with which our agricultural interest is menaced must appear to savor of absolute lunacy.

CORRESPONDENCE REPORTS.

PENDLETON Oregon July 1st 1880.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In your issue of the ... inst. appears the following:

Many citizens of Pendleton send us the following note: ... and also needs a drug store. A first class drug ... will find Pendleton a good ... call for any looking for a good location. A man of enterprise wanted. This is a fast growing country seat and we know of no better town for a practical druggist.

This is calculated to injure a worthy citizen of our town. Instead of "many citizens" a certain itinerant physician(?) was we think the author of this. Dr E J Summerville is the proprietor of a first-class drug store in this place and he and his clerk Sam McMullin are both first-class druggists and proficient prescriptionists. These gentlemen are favorites among the people here enjoying the full confidence of every one in the whole community. Mr Summerville has an extensive stock of drugs, fully up to the wants of the country, and indeed a store hardly surpassed by any retail drug store in Portland. Everything can be had here that can be obtained in Portland and almost if not quite as cheap as at any retail house in your city.

The doctor(?) who we have reason to believe was the author of the above was here a short time since and because Mr S. would not sell him drugs as cheap as he could buy them at wholesale in Portland became offended, and hence the item from "Many Citizens." Mr Summerville does not object to any one coming here for the purpose of engaging in a similar business, but it is contemptible for an itinerant mountebank like the aforesaid doctor to attempt such a base slander on a worthy citizen. As you have given space to the above card we trust you will give this an insertion in your columns, so that Mr Summerville who is well known throughout the state may be set right in this matter. By so doing you will oblige the undersigned citizens of Pendleton and vicinity.

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 20, 1880.

AN INDEPENDENT VIEW.

The Nation is a well known paper of independent criticism. Four years ago it supported Mr. Tilden, believing that through him lay the way to the introduction of certain better methods of administration. At that time Mr. Tilden seemed to many to be almost a model reformer. He had long been passing as such, and it required the revelations of the electoral contest to strip the mask from him. Hence many independent and unattached voters supported him who cannot be counted on to support General Hancock, unless they see special and satisfactory reasons for doing so. Such journals as the Nation do not follow party as partisans. They speak for a large class who make up their minds on the merits of opposing candidates in each particular contest, taking into account their abilities, antecedents and surroundings, including of course the existing status of parties and their probable tendencies under the circumstances of the time. It is in this spirit that the Nation examines the present political situation. Of General Hancock as a gentleman and a professional soldier it speaks in highest terms. At the same time it maintains that his nomination was a blunder, inasmuch as he is put forward for the presidency, not merely without experience in public affairs, and without any kind of preparation for the responsibilities of the high office, but at a time when the sentiment of the country, both republican and democratic, demands separation of the government from military influences and methods, as well as full return to the peaceful habits of a well-founded republic. Note what an incisive piece of writing the following extract is:

His nomination comes, too, just as the republican party has finally discarded military ideas and military methods, and has nominated a man whose fame is almost wholly based on his career as an economist and legislator. And yet the republican party has not hitherto stood for administrative reform and legislative enterprise. It has been essentially a war party. It has to no small extent thrown discredit on peaceful agencies in the work of renovation and pacification. It is the party which one would naturally expect to cling to soldier government and strong-man government. It is, therefore, more than surprising to find that no sooner has it returned to the paths of peace and produced a candidate whose triumphs have been almost all legislative, than the democrats, the great friends of government by discussion and persuasion, and of policemen as against soldiers, the great enemies of attempts to work on opinion through the revival of war memories and passions, should throw all their civilians aside, their lawyers, their statesmen, their financiers, and appear on the scene with a major general in full uniform, and begin to tell us of the battles he fought, the guns and prisoners he took, and of the mildness and good sense with which he exercised the power of a military dictator over large bodies of the American people half a generation ago. Of course the object of this is well known. It is meant to meet the suspicion of democratic sympathy with the rebellious south; but it must be admitted that a great political party is in a bad way when it has no better mode than this in commending itself, in time of profound peace, to a public much sobered by unhappy experience of administrative and financial disorder, and reasonably anxious for a careful adaptation of the government machine to the needs of a rapidly increasing population and to a growing complexity of interests and responsibilities, both material and moral.

Considerations like these must have vast weight with observant and thoughtful people. It is believed that such views will prevail with a class of voters who are numerous enough to decide the contest in New York, and who, therefore, will virtually control the presidential election. Hancock's candidacy cannot possibly grow with this class of people, while that of Garfield almost certainly will. In New York, more than any other state, it is this large class of unattached and independent voters whose ballots constitute a balance between the parties and give one party or the other preponderance, as either may seem to deserve it. All indications are that the tendency of these suffrages is towards Garfield. To the reasons given by the Nation, as above stated, it may be added that Gen. Hancock, if elected to the presidency, will either follow the military habit of his whole life and issue his orders as summarily as if he were commanding an army; or, as is more probable, if we may judge from his subserviency to political influences as exhibited in that sole instance of his participation in political administration when he became President Johnson's manager to carry out "my policy" at New Orleans, he will give himself up to the politicians around him, will revolutionize the public service upon the traditional democratic doctrine that to the victors belong the spoils, and will carry out a policy which will give the purposes of the solid south a preponderating influence in the government. With the democratic party behind him, all questions of financial and administrative reform might as well be considered indefinitely postponed; for the first condition of reform would then be to turn that party out of the government. The contest would have to take this shape as preliminary to everything else.

GEN. ARTHUR'S LETTER.

The republican candidate for the vice presidency has written a letter of acceptance which contains many strong points needful to be stated. It is written from a standpoint somewhat different from that of Gen. Garfield's letter, or rather it supplies matter to reinforce the republican position on another side. It would be difficult to find anywhere a stronger statement regarding the course and action of the democratic party on the question so recently at issue between congress and the president. So true and forcible are these words that they will bear repetition again and again during the campaign, viz: "An aggressive majority boldly attempted to extort from the executive his approval of various enactments destructive of laws which have done much to curb the violence and wrong to which the ballot and count have been again and again subjected. This was to be effected through revolutionary threats that a constitutional exercise of the veto power would be punished by withholding the appropriations necessary to carry on the government. These threats were actually carried out by refusing needed appropriations and by forcing an extra session of congress lasting for months. Ominous signs of public disapproval alone subdued this arrogant power into a sullen surrender for the time being of part of its demands." This, in brief is the history of the extra session, and in fact of the entire career of the present congress. It is a history too recent and too freshly remembered to be passed over lightly in the present contest. But while we strongly commend this and much more in Gen. Arthur's letter, we must say that it would have been in better taste had he refrained from the expression of views he has given in regard to the political activity of office-holders. His connection heretofore with office and politics in New York has been such that his statement on this subject cannot be understood otherwise than as a thrust at the administration with which he has disagreed on this very topic; and the sense of the country will hold that the administration was in the right. It is doubtless true, as Gen. Arthur states, that by acceptance of public office the citizen does not surrender any of his rights or responsibilities as a citizen. But this does not state the point in issue. The point is that the official has no right to use the influence which his position may give him to interfere in and control the action of his party, and still less to dominate and tyrannize over it. This is the "boss system," and the republican party will not tolerate it. Gen. Arthur has made a mistake in so far as his letter may be construed in implying that it will.

The democratic platform contains the following:

"Fourth—The right to a free ballot is a right preservative of all rights, and must and shall be maintained in every part of the United States."

To prove the sincerity of the platform builders we append a few figures selected at random from various counties in southern states, representing the vote of 1876:

	Hayes.	Tilden.
Greene county, Alabama	2	408
Walton county, Georgia	2	1,893
Wilkes county, Georgia	2	1,139
East Feliciana, Louisiana	0	1,736
Lowndes county, Mississippi	2	2,078
Tallahatchee county, Mississippi	1	1,144
Yazoo county, Mississippi	2	3,672
Brown county, Texas	1	525
Eastland county, Texas	3	1,734
Hidalgo county, Texas	4	1,629
Buchanan county, Virginia	2	1,330

Will any honest man, not being a fool, pretend to claim that the above figures copied from the record, indicate a free ballot? In 1872, when there was a free ballot, or some approach to it, Greene county, Alabama, threw 2516 republican votes, Lowndes county, Mississippi, 3217, and so on. A party which relies on carrying an election by prohibiting a free ballot, and which cannot hold the solid south in any other way, prates sanctimoniously about the necessity of "maintaining a free ballot in every part of the United States," as if it were the sole champion of free and fair elections. As it exists in the south, this party is simply an organized crime. It is organized against law, justice, free elections and republican institutions. It has suppressed political opposition, and in making its crime effective more men have been murdered than fell on both sides in the dreadful encounter at Gettysburg, the greatest battle of the war.

During the year 1879 the total sum of expenses in working the Comstock mines was eleven millions of dollars, while the entire produce of the mines was only four millions. Share-holders, therefore, suffered a dead loss of seven millions. Assessments are still being poured into the mines at an enormous rate; but unless new discoveries are made this lavish expenditure cannot very long continue. Possibly new bonanzas may be laid bare, for twice before have these mines been under as dark an eclipse as at present. But it is mere chance. The probability is against it; and unless rich ore be opened shortly, the mines will have to be abandoned. It is impossible that money should be sunk much longer at the present rate. So deep are the mines now and so high is their temperature, that it is not likely that any way can be found of working them cheaply. That it would be better for the entire Pacific slope if no new discovery were ever made in these mines we do not doubt. Better that they fail now, and never recover. Stock gambling has been an infinite evil, for which all the bullion taken from the Comstock furnishes no compensation. Pursuit of this mirage has injured every material and almost every moral interest of our people. It will be a fortunate day for the Pacific slope when the shafts and tunnels of the Comstock become courts for owls.

A portion of a letter written from New York to the Chicago Tribune in regard to Gen. Hancock and family, was reprinted in THE OREGONIAN a week ago. The extracts gave some plain accounts of the general and his family; but there was nothing at all in it but what might properly be printed, else of course it would not have appeared in such journals as the Chicago Tribune and THE OREGONIAN. Of the wife of Gen. Hancock the writer said: "She is a pleasant and ordinary woman. She has no ambition. If she was in the white house she would not, to use a colloquialism, 'put herself out' to entertain anyone. She would form a clique with a certain set, and 'not be at home' to the many, simply because it would be the easiest way for her to do." Now though this was just what was said about Mrs. Hancock, and every syllable thereof, certain organs profess to be horrified. One exclaims in a kind of hysterical way, "For shame! for sha me!" Another, printed here in Portland, a sort of organ epicene, which gets no attention except as it is sometimes examined with indolent curiosity as a travesty of journalism, sees in the above extract the "emasculation (sic) of Mrs. Hancock of all womanly qualifications!" That will do. The crime alleged is one for which history furnishes no parallel.

The local journal of Allentown, N. J., the home of Gov. Newell, the new executive of Washington territory, says: Gov. Newell will assume the responsibilities of his new position on the 1st prox., and our Washington friends may expect to see our distinguished fellow citizen in person soon after that date. They will find him easy and affable in his ways, as ready to give a listening ear to his humblest constituent as the highest person in the land. He is no friend to rings or combinations. He has been thoroughly tested in that direction and found to have a good stiff backbone, and we commend him to those Pacific coasters, as a man with whom they will be delighted to meet.

We thought so. Eastern journals at hand assert that the man who is trying the miracle of fasting forty days is suspected of having food slyly conveyed to him by a confederate in the guise of a medicine "watcher." That Tanner, with eye undimmed, pulse good and regular and muscles as springy as at the first—after so many days of alleged fasting—must be fraud, all sensible people must know. The only difficulty has been to detect and expose the fraud. The reporters of the New York newspapers ought to be able to explode this undoubted humbug.

J. B. Lippincott, the publisher, says that the cheap pamphlet editions of books now being printed are ruining the legitimate book trade. They are undermining the perpetuity of the library and cheapening literary tastes, because as soon as they are read they are thrown away. He says that publishers judge of a manuscript novel by its first page—that is, they know whether to read any further or not.

In the publication of the report of Judge Deady, referee, in the State vs. members of the late board of land commissioners, it appeared that John S. Walton had been paid $2100 for services as deputy swamp land commissioner, when it should have been for services as clerk.

Gen. Hancock was nominated on his record as a soldier, as a blind to the anti confederate sentiment of the country. The confederates did not nominate him because he fought them in 1861, but because they expect to use him in 1881. So it will not prove much of a blind.

A Pittsburg dispatch says that the glass trade of that city is at a stand still. Of the forty-seven glass houses on the south side not one is in operation. About 15,000 men and boys are idle in consequence of the suspension.

It has been decided by the republicans to make an earnest campaign in South Carolina. A series of meetings is already projected. It is considered certain, however, that such course will bring out the rifle clubs again.

CITY.

DEATH OF MR CARR—After a protracted illness Mr Thos S Carr departed this life at his home in Portland yesterday morning at 5 o'clock About a year ago Mr Carr's health began to fail but he continued to hold his position of freight clerk for the O S N Co until forced to relinquish the duties Several months ago he visited San Francisco in the hope of benefiting his health Failing to derive the expected benefits he returned to Portland on the last trip of the Elder The deceased held the position of freight clerk on one of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamers running between San Francisco and routes on the southern coast He subsequently held a similar position on one of the O S S Co's steamers plying between Portland and San Francisco For more than three years past Mr Carr has been in the employ of the O S N Co He was at all times ready accurate and faithful Mr Carr was a native of Providence Rhode Island His age was 30 years He leaves a devoted wife and two children

INHUMAN TREATMENT—A brute in human shape an employe of Weidler's saw mill residing in the neighborhood of the Phenix hotel has for the past month been guilty of atrocious cruelty to his four year old boy For such offenses as tarrying on the way to the grocery and playing near the river the father has repeatedly knocked the child down with a heavy stick and one day last week in a fit of uncontrollable anger, he pitched the boy about twenty feet into the river. The child was rescued by bystanders The cries of the suffering little fellow awakened much sympathy among the neighbors who expostulated with the burly fiend and received for their pains threats of bodily violence if they dared to interfere The case has been reported to the officers of the humane society, who will prosecute the wretch to the fullest extent of the law if another instance of his brutality is reported

PROTECTION FOR COUNTY RECORDS —In the county court yesterday the commissioners had under discussion nearly all day a proposition to build a vault for the safe keeping of county records. The plan projected is to construct a fire and burglar proof room in the form of a turret, octagonal shaped, about 20 feet in diameter adjoining the courthouse on the south and connected with the east room of the clerk's office the room to be suitably furnished with shelves, pigeon holes etc. The vault now connected with the clerk's office is inadequate for present demands and it may prove a piece of wise economy to give perfect protection to public records, which could not be replaced if destroyed by fire or lost by theft.

MRS F M BATES—An old and well-known citizen of Portland is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. F M. Bates whose name is so familiar to theatre goers of this city Mrs. Bates had just arrived in San Francisco from a very protracted professional tour of the Australias, accompanied by her children The lady played several successful engagements many years ago at the old Oro Fino theatre, in conjunction with her husband She was a great favorite then with this public, and would doubtless draw crowded houses should she conclude to visit Portland professionally She has many friends who would be gratified to have her revisit this city.

EAST PORTLAND RACES.—An interesting racing programme is offered at East Portland to-day. There will be three races, as will be seen per advertisement The two-mile dash and the mile dash will probably be hotly contested—we wish we could say the same of the half-mile dash We are sorry to hear that the fine mare Mayflower has not fallen into very excellent hands, and it is whispered among horsemen, who claim to know, that her managers are attempting rather to make money than credit for themselves or their animal Gentlemen, have no "job" races, and let the purity of the turf be upheld instead of degraded

WHEN?—A citizen and property holder who has occasion to cross Washington street at least twice daily, takes occasion to ask when is the nuisance at the end of Washington street to be abated, and further what are the prospects of abolishing the Washington street bridge. The smells arising from the dump hole (and such it will probably be until the bridge is done away with) under the structure aforesaid are equal to anything to be found in the once flooded district. A change will be a great benefit to residents of the locality mentioned and pedestrians generally.

FALSE ALARM —An alarm of fire was sounded a few minutes before noon yesterday, occasioned by the carelessness of workmen engaged in burning debris on the vacant lot on Second street back of Union Block Fire started to destroy rubbish and waste boards soon assumed a fury dangerous to contiguous buildings and instead of quietly summoning a single engine, some excitable person sounded a general alarm and called the entire department to the scene. A few minutes sufficed to allay the danger.

ON A TRAMP —Mr Isaac Blum, president of the Canal Fork Mining company, and Mr W L Chittenden, a stockholder therein, leave this morning for the company's works, located on the Santiam river, Linn county They will combine business with pleasure and saunter about the country for a month or two During their stay at the mine, the new quartz mill will be put in operation and if but half that is anticipated will be realized, the stockholders will have a bonanza

EXCURSION —The ladies of St. Paul's Guild Oregon City, will give one of their pleasant excursions on Thursday next, the 22d St. Helens will be their destination This little town has good picnic grounds being situated above high water mark, and at the present stage of water the trip will be an easy and delightful one All who want a quiet day and a basket lunch will not fail to go For rates, time of leaving etc, see advertisement in another column

DEAD —Mrs. Sadie Cunningham, sister of Mrs. Joseph T Hayne, died yesterday morning of consumption at her residence, near the corner of Morrison and Third streets. Over a year ago the husband of Mrs Cunningham died of the same disease The loss of her husband to weighed upon her spirits that her health has been gradually declining until death released her from the sufferings of life

THE REPUBLICAN CLUB.—The movement inaugurated Saturday night toward the formation of a Young Men's Republican Club is met with decided favor Over three hundred names were enrolled yesterday including many men of political prominence A meeting will be held in a few days and organization for the campaign effected

JERKED OVERBOARD AND DROWNED — A special dispatch to THE OREGONIAN from Hallett's camp on the O R & N Co's railroad, dated yesterday afternoon says Ramsford Pond a waiter on the steamer Northwest while drawing a bucket of water from the river opposite the Willows was jerked overboard and drowned

PUMPING OUT—Columbian engine No 3 was engaged yesterday afternoon in pumping out the cellar of Leonard's store building corner of First and A streets Protection engine No 4 was also engaged yesterday in pumping out the depressed block on which the former residence of Capt R R Thompson stands

PAINTING SOLD — Capt Cleveland Rockwell's elegant water color picture Smoky Sunrise on the Columbia which has been on exhibition in Shannahan's gallery was sold yesterday to Mr Wm M Ladd The painting is one of Capt Rockwell's best works and Mr Ladd is to be congratulated on being its owner

DEATH FROM POISON.—John Riley, a blacksmith employed in Bigne's shop died at his home on Fifth street near Alder on Sunday from the effects of a dose of morphine taken to allay nervous suffering He was 26 years of age and of exemplary character

MARK OF RESPECT—Owing to the death of T S Carr late freight clerk of the O R & N Co the freight department of the Columbia and Willamette divisions of the O R & N Co will be closed to day from 2 o'clock to 3 P M

EXCURSION TO ASTORIA —The steamer Lurline will leave the foot of Alder street at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning carrying parties of excursionists from Eugene and Corvallis Fare for the round trip from this city $3

FILED HIS BOND —City Auditor R L Durham filed his bonds as city auditor and clerk for $2500 with the following gentlemen as sureties Ira F Powers W J Becannon S Farrell, E Corbett J H Berther

POLICE COMMISSIONERS —A regular meeting of the police commissioners was held last night and usual routine business transacted The case of Officer Stephenson, suspended for conduct unbecoming an officer, was continued till next meeting The board began inquiries into the charges made against Officer Mott in the Sunday Mercury and will make a thorough investigation in his case

OUR ARCHERY CLUB VICTORIOUS —A telegram from New York received yesterday morning states that the match between the Multnomah archery club and a similar organization in New York was won by the former the Multnomah club having scored 1647 against their opponents 1547

Y P A —The regular meeting of the young people's association will be held this (Tuesday) evening in the lower room of the Baptist church commencing at 8 o'clock sharp Strangers and everybody invited

BRIEF NOTES.

The river declines

Look out for the steamer Columbia

Mercury does not pe ch so high now

A delightful breeze sprung up from the north yesterday

The Willamette is now down where she ought to be all the time

The steamer State of California will sail from San Francisco for Portland this afternoon

Mr John Ring a prominent member of the A O H has gone to Tillamook light house for several months

The number of residences being erected throughout the city is astonishing A large number are costly buildings

Louie Park a well known Chinese merchant returned on the Oregon He has been absent in China for seven months past

Messages uncalled for at the Western Union Telegraph Company for Wm McDearmon, Silas Wilcox and a cablegram for Nabob

A man who after waiting in vain for more than 24 hours for a pair of aces, was heard to remark yesterday to a friend. Well, if a fellow wants to see the tiger he's got to pay the admission fee, and there aint no half price tickets neither"

MISS SUMMERFIELD'S PIANO RECITAL.

The music parlor of Mr Simon Harris was completely filled last evening with a very appreciative audience of invited guests the occasion being Miss Summerfield's first appearance before a Portland assemblage The following programme was rendered

1 Quartette for Violin, Violoncello Piano and Organ, Adagio Sonate Pathetique Op. 13 ... Beethoven
2 Piano Solo (a) Trill Etude ... Schmidt
(b) Alla Turque from Sonate No 12 ... Mozart
3 Piano Duet Elisir D Amore Op 21 ... Villbac
4 Piano Solo Fra Diavolo ... Sydney Smith
5 Quartette for Violin Violincello, Piano and Organ Melodie Religieuse ... Tours

Miss Summerfield plays well Her touch is marked with exceeding delicacy, not unmixed with force correctness of expression and almost perfect tempo Her solos, the second and fourth number's stamp her as an artist of high order The two quartettes by Miss Summerfield and Messrs Frank Rex and Harris were rendered with greater precision better expression and sweeter blending than might be reasonably expected from players, so to speak strangers to one another, and were thoroughly enjoyed Especially excellent was Mr Frank's violin playing

THE STEAMSHIP COLUMBIA.

Yesterday morning the following dispatch was received

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19, 1880

The new steamship Columbia passed Point Conception Saturday morning at 10 o'clock

This dispatch was sent from Point Conception to San Francisco and forwarded from there Point Conception is about 270 miles south of San Francisco The Columbia is now somewhere between Cape Mendocino and the Columbia River bar She will probably arrive off the bar to-day some time, in which event the steamer will reach her destination to night or to-morrow forenoon

ERROR CORRECTED.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Under the above caption a writer in your issue of to day assails our last real estate report on account of our statement touching the difficulties that will attend the construction of docks above Clay street He appears to be under a mistake We did not say that there is not deep water for miles above Clay street but that a wide stretch of shallow water lies between the present city front on Water street and the macadam road and deep water—vide city map Supposing he claims that the eastern margin of the shallows which for a few months in the year are above low water mark are the city front still the fact remains that for the present great outlay must attend the construction of docks in those parts and also great expense of hauling to the commercial center of the city We have little doubt but ultimately docks will be built much higher up the stream notwithstanding the above drawbacks Meantime easier positions are yet to be occupied

In conclusion allow us to state that we endeavor to make our reports faithful and impartial transcripts of fact and operations in real estate circles and are sorry that any individual should be aggrieved thereby CLARK & UPTON

PUYALLUP HOP FIELDS.

Some Notes on this Important Industry—The Crop in a Highly Promising Condition—A Large Estimated Yield.

This shows an increase last year over the year preceding of 3 5939 pounds or nearly 100 per cent They are packed in bales of 175 pounds each and the number of bales exported since the 1st of September 1879 will foot up 45 563 as against 25 4 6 for the corresponding period last year In the hop growing industry of the Pacific coast Puyallup valley takes first rank and judging from the success which has hitherto attended the labor of the farmers there the rich and well adapted soil the favorable climate and the intelligent skillful and business like mode of culture employed these hop fields are probably destined to acquire a national reputation among the brewers and consumers of their product This rich tract of farming country twenty miles in length and averaging two and one half in width, is overlooked from the hill on which the Ledger office stands and is traversed by the Northern Pacific Railroad with trains running each way from and to New Tacoma and has a soil of great depth in places over 100 feet of dark vegetable mold and the rich alluvial deposits of ages from the Puyallup river and its confluents. More than forty of the farmers residing in this valley are now raising hops in fields ranging from 1½ to 36 acres For the purpose of inquiry into the present condition and prospects of the hop interest there, a representative of the Ledger recently spent some time among the farmers in the valley and the Ledger is indebted for the courtesy with which he was met on all sides, desirous especially to convey thanks to Messrs O M Annis of Alderton, and E Meeker and W J son, of Puyallup for kindnesses rendered him He found, without exception a very favorable outlook for a good crop and large yield If thorough cultivation and strict attention to business will bring good returns, the farmers of this valley will certainly make a good showing at harvest time It was thought of interest to procure and publish a list of those who have hops this year, with the acreage of each, as follows

Ezra Meeker	36	Van Ogle	30
J V Meeker	6	C Hambold	24

Henry Beckitt	5	John Carson	30
H M Daggett	5	C L Newharts	8¼
John Granger	10	Wm Forrest	2

This list foots up a total of 511½ acres which, at an estimated average yield of 1500 pounds to the acre would give 767 250 pounds If his crop brings 25 cents per pound it will be far below the rate realized last year and will yield for the whole nearly $192 000 This estimate of yield is low, as is also the price, in view of the present well sustained market quotations Some growers estimate the crop as high as 2000 to 2300 pounds per acre and no reason appears why their figures should be regarded as extravagant The expense of raising hops varies according to locality, but in general it costs about as much to prepare the land for them as for any ordinary crop The roots are worth about $3 per thousand If set eight feet apart there should be two roots to the hill which will take 1550 roots to the acre if six feet apart, 1212 to the acre Poles are worth about $25 per thousand Hops require about the same amount of work as corn in the way of cultivation, and it costs about three cents a pound to pick them It is difficult to arrive at an estimate of the cost of drying and baling as that work is done by the ordinary help around the farm The picking is done mostly by Indians and Chinese

The farmers of this valley are by no means paying their entire attention to hops Large fields of grain of all kinds are common and as fine orchards as may be seen anywhere Root crops of many kinds—including several fields of the sugar beet—and corn are looking well Ezra Meeker has about three and a half acres of tobacco, which would excite the envy of a Connecticut valley tobacco grower, especially were he told that there are no tobacco worms—that pest of eastern tobacco raisers—in this country to injure the crop Mr Meeker states that he produces about 1200 pounds of tobacco to the acre For a domestic tobacco the quality is excellent

KLICKITAT COUNTY, W. T.

Its Rapid Growth—Fine Farms and Plenty of Land yet to be Taken Up

[From the Klickitat Sentinel]

In 1870 the population of Klickitat county was 329, in 1878 it was 2000 in 1879 it had increased to 2098 and rounding up in 1880 to 4109—an increase of 3780 in ten years The increase has averaged 1000 a year for the last three years

Two years ago this coming November the total vote polled for delegate to congress democrat and republican was 600—394 for Brents republican candidate and 206 for the democratic candidate Mr Caton The legal voters now, according to census returns of the county are 1166

This is a great increase in so short a time for a country purely grazing and agricultural It is not like the population and growth of a mining country so suddenly to be dispersed as collected They have come to stay taken up the and fenced it and are farming, dairying, stock raising building school houses churches mills stores and laying the foundations of society Read the Fourth of July celebrations and see that the mainspring of all states is present—women and children

The country west of the Big Klickitat which two years ago had a few settlers at the mouth of that stream the White Salmon and on Camas prairie now has 459 while from there to Rock creek, including Goldendale there are 979 inhabitants The country for miles near the city is solidly fenced and well cultivated also good houses and barns East of Rock creek where two years ago the families could be counted on the fingers and nothing was done but stock raising, now are some 591 inhabitants

The land is not more than half taken up in this county and the population is increasing rapidly by home production and immigration, and will double in the next three years

There is water power for mills leather and bark for tanneries good soil and fruit grows well The affairs of the county have been economically and well administered and the debt is light

REMEDY FOR HARD TIMES.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes rich food and style Buy good healthy food cheaper and better clothing get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm and makes the proprietors rich but put your trust in the greatest of all simple pure remedies Hop Bitters that cures always at a trifling cost and you will see better times and good health Try it once. In financial matters the situation is one of a fair degree of ease with no special call from any direction The wool clip being largely out of first hands and but little yet being done in regard to the wheat crop the money drift is at present toward the centers of trade. Remittances however from the interior are not as prompt as those who desire to be fully prepared for the fall trade would like

In San Francisco at latest mail advices, interest rates are lower than usual six per cent. being considered a fair price and under this state of affairs large sums are gravitating into bonds and local miscellaneous stocks, as reliable investments for returns. The depressed condition of business all over the United States most assuredly accounts for the large investment of capital in our government securities so that the present favorable condition of our national finance is due to the want of a more general prosperity among the people—the moneyed men hiding away their spare capital in 4s and 4½s instead of risking it in doubtful business ventures at the present time Whenever a more than usually perceptible revival of trade will be inaugurated the premium upon government bonds will disappear and the demand for investment in these securities will slacken.

Reports received from different counties in the Willamette valley indicate that the fall wheat yield promises to be at least 15 per cent above average and the increased acreage will bring the total yield of fall wheat to 30 per cent more than in 1879. A bag manipulator of San Francisco, estimates the yield of wheat in California this year at 57 000,000 bushels and in Oregon at 5 000,000 bushels, and claims that the supply of bags and bagging on hands and in sight is inadequate to the demands of the coast. and on this basis predicts a marked advance soon after harvest. As yet however the market shows no change, holders being firm.

In the produce market to-day there is but little feeling Receipts generally are not heavy, though considerable wool is coming forward and we hear of sales ranging all the way from 22 to 29c, the latter being the best figure of which we have report to-day The clip is being moved pretty rapidly under the fair prices prevailing, receipts here since Saturday noon to noon to day exceeding 200 000 pounds. Other products generally steady at our last quotations In wheat there is utter stagnation There is no dried fruit in market and quotations are nominally firm Eggs in good demand with prices in sellers favor

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly from the derangement of the sexual system and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure, sometimes the pain is in the left side, the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side, sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax, the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility, he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin, his spirits are low, and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it In fact, he distrusts every remedy Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged

AGUE AND FEVER

DR C McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR McLANE'S LIVER PILLS

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C McLANE and FLEMING BROS on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros , of Pittsburgh, Pa , the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation
